

A little info about Iconic's David Jainz

Born in Freiburg Germany on October 9th 2001, David Jainz has always been enthusiastic about music. At only four years old, he began to play piano and performed his first recital when he was only 6! Over the next few years he competed and won several competitions for his talents on the piano.

During his free time, he keeps himself fit with gymnastics, calisthenics, boxing and swimming.
He is currently enrolled as a student Humboldt university for politics, literature, philosophy and music.

In 2018 he was discovered by a scout at Iconic Management in Berlin. Since then he has shot his first editorial for I-D Magazine photographed by Jakob Land, styled by Marquet Lee and under creative direction of Stefano Pilati launching his Brand Random Identities.

In 2020 he landed his first cover of Numero Germany which was photographed by Jonathan Barron and styled by Luphiline Guilmette

7 interesting facts about David:

What did you Google last?

“Schlussweisen des KM-Kalküls”

What tips or tricks have you picked up from modelling/ the fashion industry?

Be who you are and play it this way and be patience

What's the most interesting thing about your family?

My grandfather has been building skyscrapers around the globe

An interesting fact about you

I graduated highschool early when I was only 16 years old!

What's something you are self-conscious about?

The ability to discuss and talk about many different topics themes.

Who is someone you admire and why?

Daniil Trievonov / Vladimir Horowitz – Because they inspire me with their music, and they are the reason why I started playing piano.

Goals?!

Goals 2020: surfing, modeling, and to start acting

Goals 2025: living in Portugal and surfing at the beach - every day!