BIOGRAPHY

Natalie Kuckenburg was born in Hanover, Germany, and is of German-Brazilian descent. She was scouted as a teenager and quickly signed to top agencies across Europe and the U.S. Her breakthrough moment came when she made her runway debut for Balmain's Spring/Summer 2020 show, setting the tone for an international modeling career. Since then, she has walked for designers such as Chiara Boni, Philipp Plein, and Tony Ward, and appeared in campaigns for brands like Etam, Veronica Beard, and Deity.

With her elegant presence, striking features, and classic beauty, Natalie has graced the cover of Harper's Bazaar Brasil and been featured in editorials for top fashion publications.

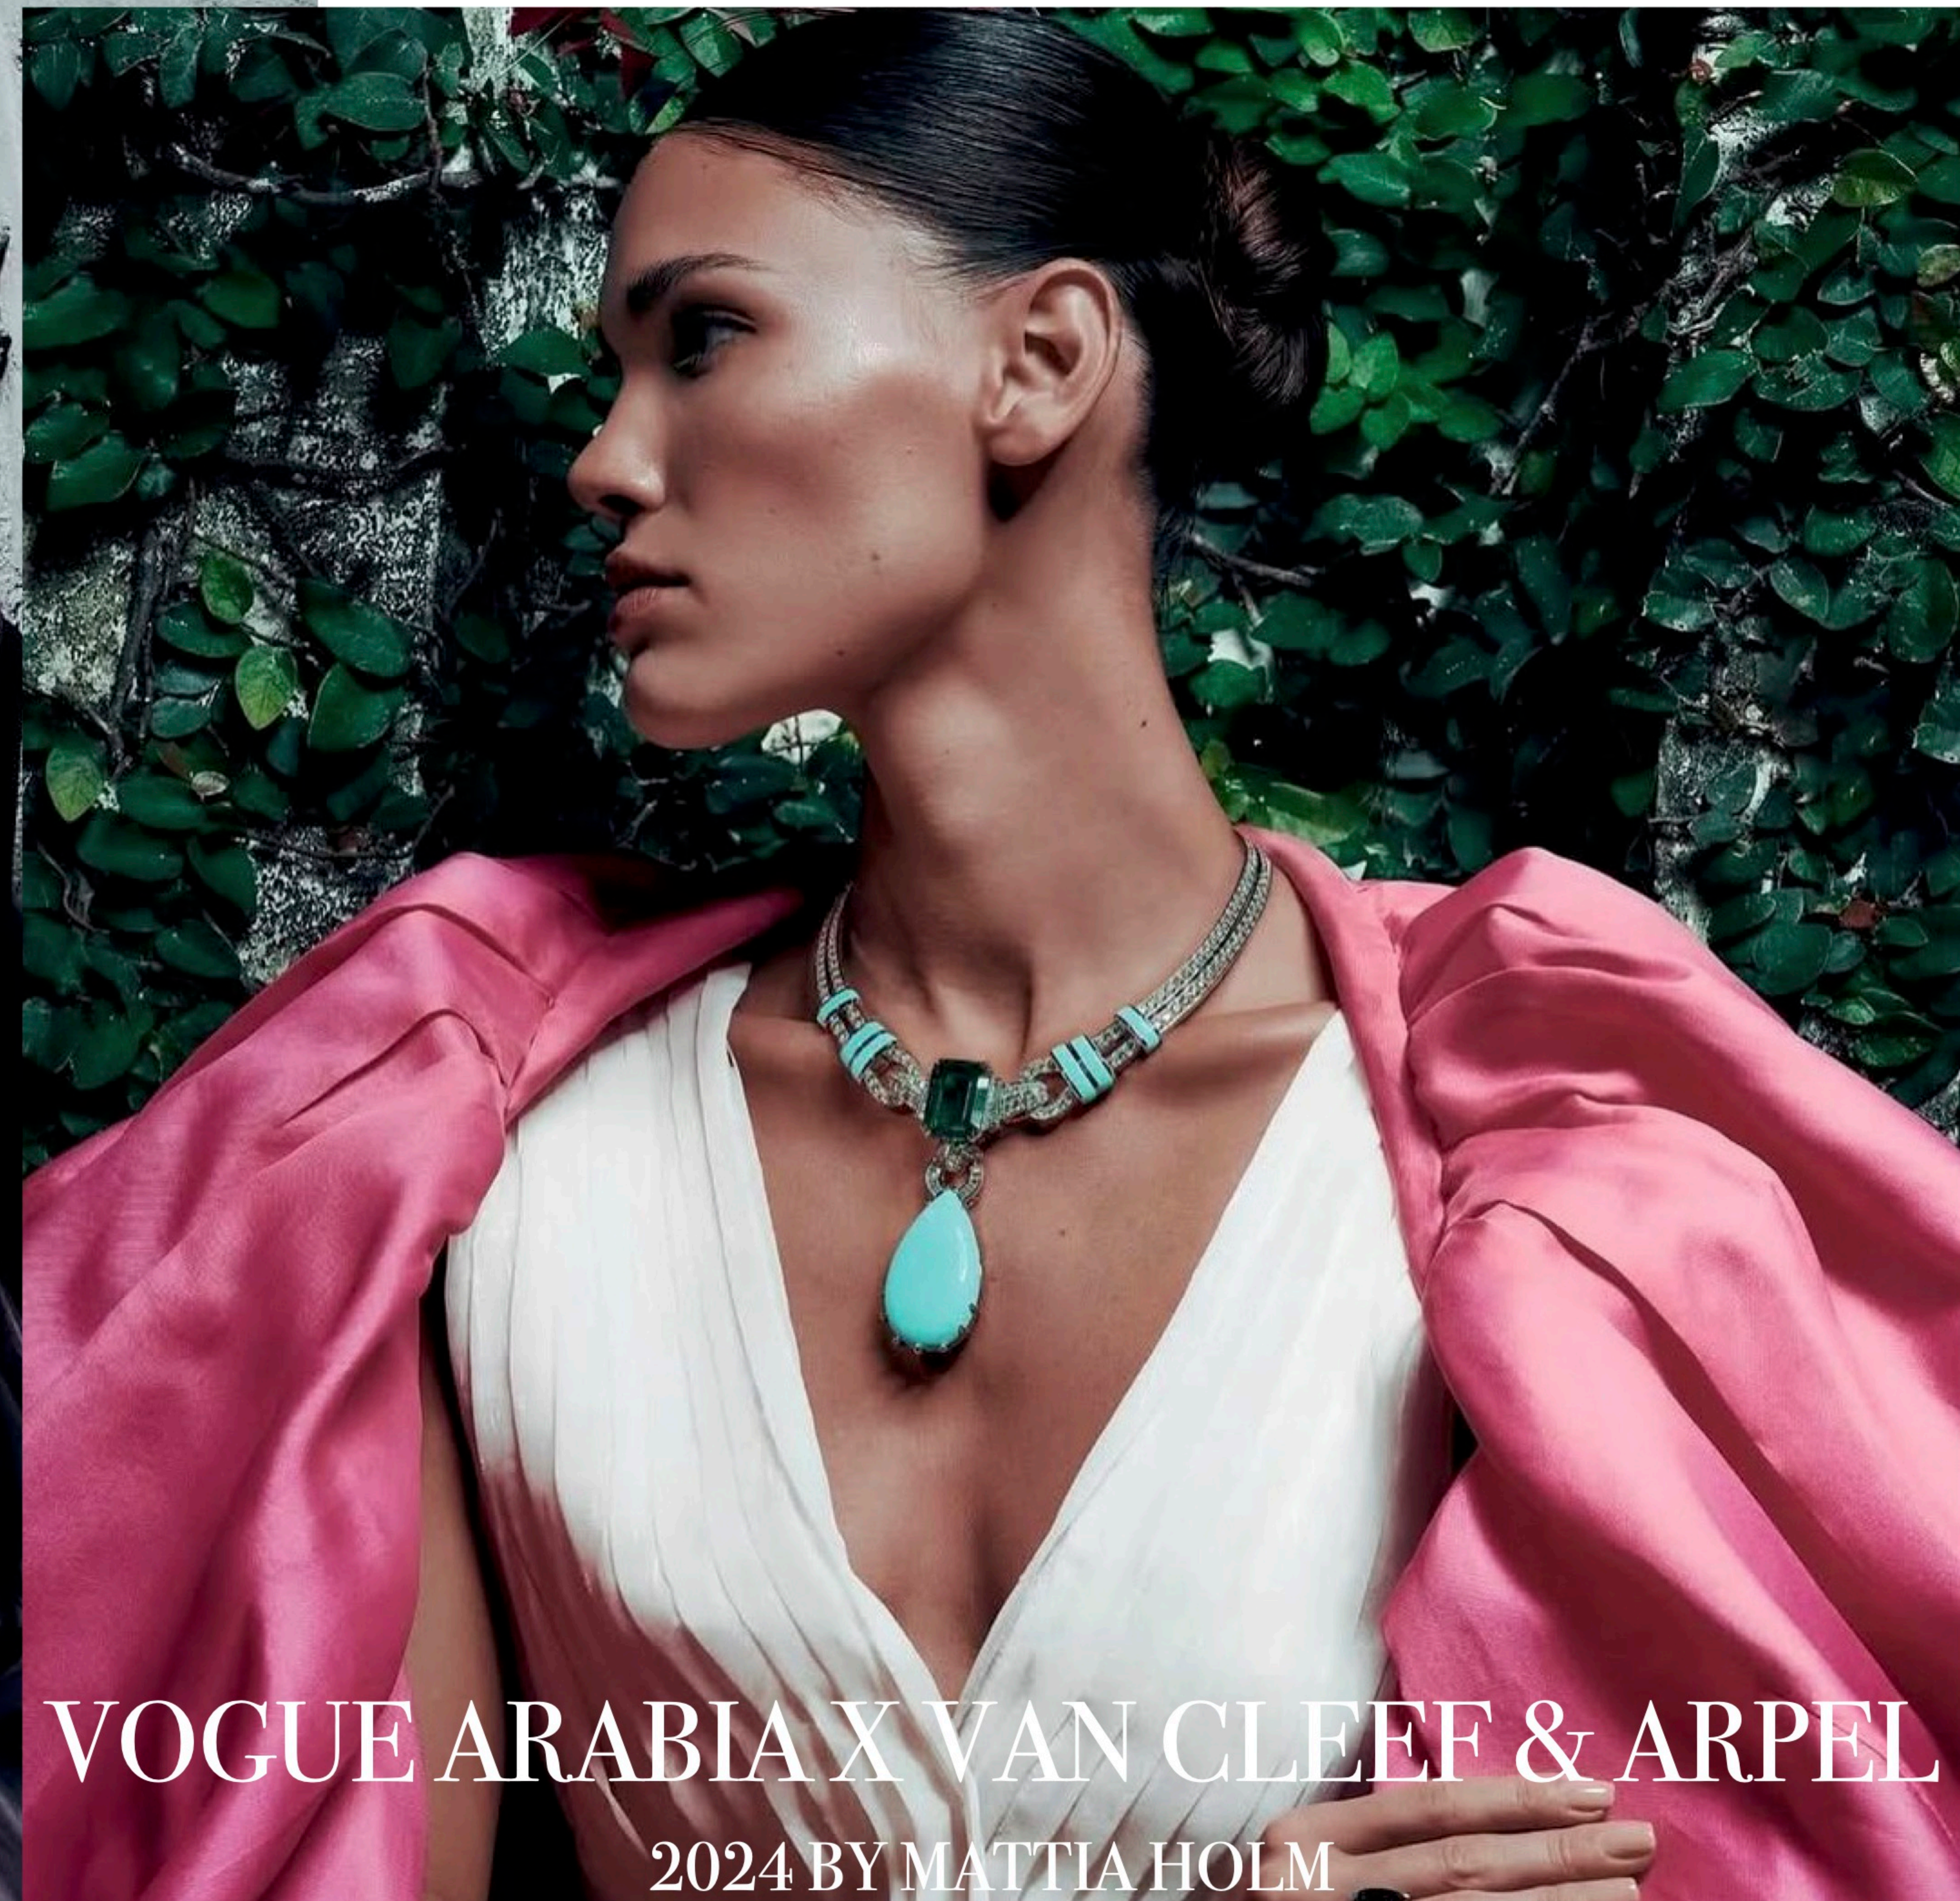

She recently started her own brand and charity, Nareia, that produces organic, limited-edition crochet pieces made by hand by women in northern Brazil, supporting female artisans and offering clients a conscious and sophisticated way of consuming fashion. She's deeply passionate about climate change and environmental issues.

Natalie and her life partner, Paul Wesley—known for his role as Stefan in The Vampire Diaries—split their time between Los Angeles, New York, and Paris.
