Noot Seear is a Canadian-born model, actress, and professional chef whose career seamlessly bridges the worlds of fashion, film, and food. Discovered at just 14, she quickly ascended to the top of the modeling industry, fronting campaigns for Calvin Klein, Chanel, and Yves Saint Laurent, and appearing on the covers of Vogue, Elle, and other leading publications. Her striking presence and versatility also brought her to the screen, most notably in The Twilight Saga: New Moon.

Today, Noot channels her creative vision into the culinary arts, bringing the same precision, artistry, and sense of storytelling she honed in fashion to the kitchen. As the founder of Nootritious, she develops recipes that champion plant-forward, ethically sourced ingredients, creating dishes that are vibrant, nourishing, and accessible. Her approach blends sustainability with modern wellness, proving that healthy food can be both beautiful and deeply satisfying.

Beyond the plate, Noot shares her culinary philosophy through engaging digital content, cooking tutorials, and brand collaborations, inspiring audiences to see food as a source of empowerment and connection. Whether working on private dining experiences, media projects, or creative partnerships, she unites the elegance of high fashion with the authenticity of wholesome cooking, making her a uniquely versatile talent across multiple industries.
